

"afhe's mission is to be the leading resource for the on-going advancement, collaboration and education of practicing attorneys and other professionals who provide intra-disciplinary counsel to family-held enterprises."

"AFHE continues to produce excellent conferences, with good subject matter, great presenters,

"afhe conferences are the best in the family business area for professionals."

"Afhe conferences are informative, educational and entertaining. It is one of the best conferences I have ever attended."

- Receive cutting edge educational content and cases filled with stimulating and enlightening sessions presented by some of the most knowledgeable and renowned speakers who are considered experts in their fields.

- Obtain Continuing Legal Education (CLE) Credits by attending afhe's Annual Conference & Membership Meetings, Mid-Year Conferences, Webinars and Educational Podcasts.

- A forum of practicing attorneys from large and small firms, fostering an exchange of professional ideas, practice information, marketing concepts and business development opportunities.

- An on-going program of serious continuing legal education programs, conferences and publications with unique substantive issues which affect family business.

- Network with leading peers and other top colleagues in the field who share your interests and concerns in this multi-disciplinary, specialized area of the law and family business.

- Enjoy afhe's famous and popular Annual Conference & Membership Meeting Thursday night dinner, as well as Saturday's golf tournament.

"If you want to learn and meet other professionals with expertise and concern for family held enterprise, this is the place."

"afhe offers a unique opportunity to participate in a collegial learning environment with family business experts from multiple disciplines."

Here is what afhe's conference attendees are saying about what afhe offers to their members. Maybe you should consider joining this great group of people to share your ideas as well.

"Great depth and quality of presentations focused on the relationship issues of FHEs."

"The last conference I attended was in Chicago. It was well organized and informative about a wide range of topics relevant to those involved with closely-held and family businesses. I was exposed to new approaches to age-old problems and was able to network with and learn from skilled practitioners from around the country. A very rewarding experience."

"The panel discussion on family offices was interesting because it included private case studies and story telling the audience could apply in their own learning"

"AFHE continues to produce excellent conferences, with good subject matter, great presenters, and excellent sharing of ideas."

"afhe conferences are the best in the family business area for professionals."

"Afhe conferences are informative, educational and entertaining. It is one of the best conferences I have ever attended."

"Such a collaborative, interesting group. The content is essential and the networking, superb."

"afhe offers a unique opportunity to participate in a collegial learning environment with family business experts from multiple disciplines. I would highly recommend it for those serious about advising and working with family businesses."

"Afhe leadership is showing a real commitment to deepening the conceptual and practical understanding of how to engage with enterprise families."

"The afhe annual conference provides an atmosphere for advisors to family businesses to dig deep into the approaches we should take when considering what it means to be a value-add to our clients."

"The most unique multi-disciplinary environment to learn on a very high level and to network with other professionals in the family office/family enterprise arena."

"If you want to learn and meet other professionals with expertise and concern for family held enterprise, this is the place."

"AFHE has captured a unique interdisciplinary ecosystem of experienced service professionals with a common goal of improving the service they each provide to family business owners"

"afhe is by far the best organization for attorneys that practice in the unique area of representing family owned businesses and the myriad of issues that arise in that representation, many of which are not legal in nature."

"afhe provides a unique blend of education topics that help trusted advisors understand the family dynamic issues high net worth families need to approach and attempt to resolve."

"A must conference to attend and collaborate with other professionals to sharpen high-level skills and techniques to help work with family-held business enterprises more effectively."

"I have always found afhe conferences to be stimulating and motivating - both in the presentations themselves and through the interaction with the other members in attendance."

"Wonderful event. the combination of knowledgeable participants and engaging topics made for valuable discussion and fruitful conversations."

"afhe conferences are the only conferences that provide holistic education on technical and "soft side" topics of interest to attorneys whose clients are family businesses and their owners."

"The level of content, sharing and camaraderie are unusual. This is a one of a kind experiences geared to helping attorneys and others provide the highest level of service to successful families."

"It was a great learning opportunity as well as a chance to mingle with people that were collegial, interesting and fun!"